

LONDON SW1 FROM £2M

Fashionistas, this one's for you. Named after the Regency dandy Beau Brummell, this prime development on Jermyn Street – not far from the statue that commemorates him – will offer seven one- two- and three-bedroom flats, as well as a penthouse, designed separately by Oliver Burns. There are designer boutiques on the doorstep, and a 24-hour concierge service will cater for your every whim. The decor will have a “best of British“ theme, including native woods (oak flooring, walnut joinery) and hand-painted wallpaper sourced from UK craftsmen. The properties are due for completion early next year.
 020 7493 0676, carterjonas.co.uk; beauhouselondon.com