

Grand designs
The Alder Hey children's hospital in Liverpool, above; 61 Oxford Street, in central London, left; and the Investcorp building at St Antony's College, Oxford, designed by Zaha Hadid, are among the 46 national award winners for new buildings, the Royal Institute of British Architects has announced. The best of these designs, chosen by RIBA, will be awarded the prestigious 2016 Stirling Prize at a ceremony on October 6

