This stunning 4,000-square-foot penthouse apartment has pride of place at the top of the prestigious new Beau House luxury-residence development. Spanning two floors, the three-bedroom property has been designed by Oliver Burns with a signature attention to detail. Hand-painted wallpaper and hand-studded doors are complemented by the highest-quality materials, from brushed brass to marble. The home's crown jewel is undoubtedly its private roof terrace, offering a unique outdoor space. Expertly landscaped, the terrace provides an al fresco kitchen, entertainment system and six-seater dining table, as well as outdoor fires, creating a space supremely equipped to relax and entertain, all while overlooking amazing city vistas.

As well as five-star concierge service, Beau House benefits from its prime location directly beside Piccadilly. Situated in Jermyn Street, famed for its gentlemen's outfitters, Beau House is just minutes from hundreds of notable London landmarks, including the Royal Academy of Arts, St James's Square, the London Library and a variety of theatres. Beau House is due to be completed this year.
